(3) Under the enrollment-based component, each state university received a funding amount per resident, or nonresident undergraduate, fiscal year equated student and a funding amount per nonresident graduate fiscal year equated student, based on fiscal year 2003-2004 data reported to the higher education institutional data inventory (HEIDI). The amount per nonresident graduate student was set at 75.0% of the amount per resident, or nonresident undergraduate, student. Those amounts were calculated so that total enrollment-based funding to all state universities was equal to the funds allocated to this component.	Deleted.	Deleted.	Year updated.	House.

(4) Under the degree-based component, each state university received a funding amount per degree awarded, based on fiscal year 2003-2004 data reported to the integrated postsecondary education data system and subsequently included in HEIDI. The base funding amount was multiplied, in sequence, by weights that vary by the academic level and program category of the degree. The base funding amount for a bachelor's degree in a general field was calculated so that total degree-based funding was equal to the funds allocated to this component. The weights were as follows:	Deleted.	Deleted.	"degree awarded" replaced by "degree completion"; year updated; degree completions outside the State excluded.	House.

(6) The initial annual funding amount for each state university was calculated by adding the amounts calculated under each of the 3 funding model components under subsection (2). To determine the final annual funding amount for each state university under the funding model, negative differences from the amounts proposed for each state university under the fiscal year 2005-2006 executive recommendation were limited to 5.0% and positive differences from the amounts proposed for each state university under the fiscal year 2005-2006 executive recommendation were limited to 10.0%. Funds were then added to the annual funding model amounts for any universities with negative differences from the amount proposed under the fiscal year 2005-2006 executive recommendation in an amount sufficient to exactly offset those differences. The monthly payment amount to be paid to each state university in both July and August 2006 under section 212 shall be equal to the annual funding model amount for that state university, after differences from the executive recommendation have been limited and funds have been added for universities with negative differences from the executive recommendation, divided by 11. House/Positive funding changes from FY 2005-06 limited to 2.9%; negative differences held harmless.
(7) If the funding model described in this section is used to determine state university appropriation amounts in future fiscal years, it is the intent of the legislature that any future increases in reported federal science- and engineering-related obligations for a university receiving a capped amount of funding in fiscal year 2005-2006 shall be eligible for increased funding under the funding model.
